THIS DAY PUBLISHED,
By WILLIAM YOUNG,
Corner of Chesnut and Second-streets,
JOAN OF ARC,
AN EPIC POEM,
By Robert Southey; with notes.
"WE do not hesitate to declare our opinion that the poetical powers displayed in it are of a very superior kind—Conceptions more lofty and daring, sentiments more commanding, and language more energetic, will not easily be found:—nor does scarcely any part of it sink into languor, as the glow of feelings and genius animates the whole. The language is, for the most part, modelled on that of Milton; and not unfrequently, it has a strong relish of Shakespeare."
Monthly Review, vol 19, p. 361.

A HISTORY,
OR ANECDOTES OF THE REVOLUTION IN RUSSIA,
IN THE YEAR 1762.
Translated from the French of M. de Rulhiere; With an elegant Head of the late Empress.
[The second edition, price 75 cents,]
"The grounds of M. de Rulhiere's information seem indisputable, and his readers appear to have every reason to be satisfied with his discernment, in unfolding the motives and circumstances that concurred in bringing about this striking event.
"We shall only add, that we have seldom met with more interesting original anecdotes, than those that are contained in the little work which we have now reviewed."

KINGSTON (Jam.) Dec. 1.

The French cartel schooner Two Sisters, capt. Paudeaux, in 4 days from the Mole, arrived at Port-Royal on Saturday evening. Lieut. col. Porter is arrived in her, with dispatches from gen. Touissaint to Lord Balcarres and admiral Parker.

By the Judith, in 4 days from Cuba, information is received, that the brig Conquest, capt. Glegg, of this port, was attacked and captured on the 12th of Oct. by two privateer schooners off the Isle Pines; one of them mounting 1, the other 7 guns 6 pounders. The largest was beat off, but captain Glegg had then received a musket shot thro' both legs, and when veering his vessel, he received another through his head, and instantly expired. His mate soon afterwards was killed, and the vessel being closely attacked, surrendered. The Conquest and the privateers were lying in a bay near Batibeneau.

The French cartel schr. Two Sisters sailed on Wednesday evening for the Mole, with dispatches from gen. Toussaint.

The vessels in the offing, are his majesty's ships the Queen, capt. Dubson and Carnatic, capt. Loring, from a cruise off the Havannah, in company with the Thunderer and Maidstone, during which they have captured a Spanish and American brig which are hourly expected, under convoy of the Grey-Hound frigate.

The schooner Mary, from Norfolk for this port with a cargo of Staves and Shingles, sprunk a leak to windward of Yallahs, and was ran ashore by the Captain, the lumber will be saved.

We are imformed that the American ship Zenobia, that sailed from this not long ago, sent armed boats into the place in the Caymanas, where the prize to the Conquest brig was lying with a view to cut her out, but were obliged, from superior force to retire.

RICHMOND, January 4.

On Tuesday last, General Pinckney, one of our late envoys to France, arrived in this city, with his family, on their way to Charleston, South-Carolina, the place of their residence. Information having been received, that General Pinckney was expected in Richmond on that day, Captain Austin's troop of horse, joined by many respectable citizens on horseback, marched out and met the General about five miles from the city, and on their return were met at Bacon-Branch by captain Richardson's company of Light Infantry Blues who having joined in the escort, accompanied the General and his family to the house of General Marshall, where he had been kindly invited.

Yesterday an elegant entertainment was given at the Eagle-Tavern, by a number of respectable citizens, to General Pinckney, as a testimony of the high respect they entertain of his talents, and of the gratitude which the many services that he has rendered his country, as well as the firm and able conduct which he displayed during the time he was employed in endeavoring to treat with the French directory, have impressed on their minds.

Gen. Pinckney. we understand, is to leave Richmond this day, on his was home, We also learn, that the citizens of Petersburg are preparing for his reception.

PHILADELPHIA,

MONDAY EVENING, JANUARY 14.

MR. FENNO,

A Philadelphia paper some time ago, informed the public that a new drama, founded on the failure of the negociation at Paris, was in preparation, and would, it was expected, be brought on the stage, in the course of the ensuing season—I have had the pleasure of perusing the piece alluded to, and although I cannot give to it the praise of true dramatic excellence, yet I think, considering the subject, it possesses merit sufficient to recommend it to an audience. Claiming neither the character of sparkling wit nor profound sublimity, it consists of but a few scenes, written in a chaste and impressive style, the denouement of which is calculated to exhibit in true colours the villainous policy which dictated the conduct of the arch bishop.

As the Theatrical season is to commence the beginning of next month, it is hoped the enemies to that nefarious transaction will give support to a performance which undertakes to heighten its odium—At all times the drama might be made the school of political and moral virtue, but on the present occasion, nothing is more calculated to expand and invigorate the energies of patriotism, than public national spectacles—and the managers, if their patriotism is not tainted with French influence, will surely give it ample encouragement.

Yours,
PHILO-THESPIS.

UNIFORM

For the ARMY of the UNITED STATES.

THE uniform of the commander in chief, to be a blue coat, with yellow buttons, and gold epaulets, each having three silver stars, with lining, capes and cuffs, of buff—in winter buff vest and breeches—in summer, a white vest and breeches of nankeen.—The coat to be without lappels, and embroidered on the cape and cuffs and pockets. A white plume in the hat, to be a further distinction. The adjutant general, the aids, and secretaries, of the commander in chief, to be likewise distinguished by a white plume.

The uniform of the other general officers, to be a blue coat, with yellow buttons, gold epaulets, linings and facings of buff—the under-cloathes the same with those of the commander in chief.

The major generals to be distinguished by two silver stars in each epaulet, and except the inspector general, by a black and white plume, the black below. The brigadier to be distinguished by one silver star on each epaulet, and by a red and white plume, the red below. The aids, of all general officers, who are taken from regiments, and the officers of inspection, to wear the uniforms of the regiments from which they are taken. The aids to be severally distinguished by the like plumes, which are worn by the general officers, to whom they are respectively attached.

The uniform of the aids of the commander in chief, when not taken from regiments, to be a blue coat, with yellow buttons, and gold epaulet, buff lining and facings—the same under-cloathes with the commander in chief.

The inspector general, his aids, and the officers of inspection generally, to be distinguished by a blue plume. The quarter master general, and other military officers in his department, to be distinguished by a green plume.

The uniform of the infantry and artillery to be a blue coat, with white buttons, and red facings, white under-cloathes and cocked hats—the length of the officers coats to reach to the knees, the coats of the infantry to be lined with white, of the artillery with red. The uniform of the cavalry, to be a green coat, with white buttons linings, and facings; white vest and breeches, and helmet caps.

Each colonel, to be distinguished by two epaulets; each major, by one epaulet on the right shoulder, and a strap on the left. All the field officers, (except as above) and the regimental staff, to wear red plumes—the officers of companies are to wear no plumes.

Captains to be distinguished by an epaulet on the right shoulder: lieutenants by one on the left shoulder; cadets by a strap on the right shoulder. The epaulets and straps of the regimental officers to be of silver.

Serjeant majors and quarter-master serjeants to be distinguished by two red worsted epaulets; serjeants by a like epaulet on the right shoulder; corporals by a like epaulet on the left shoulder; the flank companies to be distinguished by red wings on the shoulders.

The coats of the musicians to be of the colours of the facings of the corps to which they severally belong. The chief musicians to wear two white worsted epaulets.

All the civil staff of the army, to wear plain blue coats, with yellow buttons, and white under cloathes.

No gold or silver lace, except in the epaulets and straps, to be worn.

The commissioned officers, and cadets, to wear swords.

All persons belonging to the army, to wear a black cockade, with a small white eagle in the centre. The cockade of non-commissioned officers, musicians and privates, to be of leather, with Eagles of tin.

The regiments to be distinguished from each other, numerically. The number of each regiment to be expressed on the buttons.

By Command of the President.
Given at the War Office of the United States, in Philadelphia, this 9th day day of January, A. D. 1799, and in the twenty-third year of the Independence of the said States.

JAMES M'HENRY,
Secretary of war.

WHEREAS,

BY an Act of Congress passed on the sixteenth day of July in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and ninety eight, the President of the United States is authorised to borrow on behalf of the United States from the Bank of the United States, or from any other body or bodies politic or corporate, or from any person or persons, and upon such terms and conditions as he shall judge most advantageous for the United States, a sum not exceeding five millions of dollars, so however, that no contract or engagement be made which shall preclude the United States from reimbursing any sum or sums borrowed at any time after the expiration of fifteen years from the date of such loan. And whereas, it is declared by the said Act, that so much as may be necessary of the surplus of the duties on Imports and Tonnage beyond the permanent appropriations heretofore charged upon them by law, shall be pledged and appropriated for paying the interest, and also for paying and discharging the principal sum or sums of all the monies which may be borrowed, according to the term or terms which may be fixed, pursuant to the authority aforesaid—And whereas by the said Act, the faith of the United States is pledged to establish sufficient permanent Revenues for making up any deficiency that may hereafter appear in the provisions before-mentioned for paying the interest and principal sums, or either of them, of any monies which may be borrowed pursuant to the said Act. And whereas the President of the United States did by an Act or Commission under his hand dated the ninth day of January in the year one thousand seven hundred and ninety nine, authorise and empower, the Secretary of the Treasury, to borrow on behalf of the United States, any sum not exceeding in the whole, five millions of dollars and to make such contract or contracts as should be necessary, and for the interest of the United States, in pursuance of the Act of Congress above recited.

Now therefore, the undersigned, Secretary of the Treasury, in pursuance of the Act of Congress, and the authority from the President of the United States, above mentioned, doth hereby on behalf of the United States of America, contract and engage in manner following, to wit.

1st. A book for receiving subscriptions to a Loan of five millions of dollars for the use of the United States shall be opened in the city of Philadelphia, at the Bank of the United States on Thursday the twenty eighth day of February ensuing, which book shall continue open for the purpose of receiving subscriptions, until the whole of the said five millions of dollars shall be subscribed. If more than five millions of dollars shall be subscribed on the first day of opening the said loan, the surplus shall be deducted in proportion to the sums subscribed by individuals, exceeding four thousand dollars.

2d. For every hundred dollars which may be subscribed there shall be forthwith deposited and paid the sum of twelve dollars and fifty cents, and like payments of twelve dollars and fifty cents, shall be made within the first ten days of the months of April, May, June, July, August September and October ensuing. The Secretary of the Treasury however reserves the right of reducing the number of instalments by special agreements, with the individuals who may become subscribers.

3d. On the failure of payment of any instalment of the sums subscribed according to the tenor of the second article, the next preceeding instalment of twelve dollars and fifty cents, which shall have been paid, for every hundred dollars subscribed shall be forfeited to the United States.

4th, The sums subscribed shall and may be paid to the credit of the United States, at the Bank of the United States, or at the offices of discount and deposit of the said Bank at Boston, New-York, Baltimore, or Charleston, or at either of the Banks of Salem, in Massachusetts, Newport and Providence in Rhode-Island, Hartford in Connecticut, Albany in New-York, or Alexandria in Virginia, for which payments, the receipts of the Cashiers of the Offices of Discount and Deposit and of the Banks aforesaid shall be received at the Bank of the United States as equivalent to money; but no payment of a subsequent instalment shall be received at any other place than that where the first instalment was paid, except at the Bank of the United States; in case any deposits shall be made at the offices of Discount or Deposit, or at either of the Banks aforesaid, which shall not be applied to the payment of the first instalment of subscriptions to the Loan aforesaid, the said deposits shall be forthwith refunded by directions from the Treasury.

5th. For the sums or number of shares of one hundred dollars, which may be subscribed, certificates shall be given by the Cashier of the Bank of the United States, which shall be assignable by indorsement, and delivery of the parties in whose favour the said certificates may be issued, until the completion of the payments required by the tenor of the second article preceeding.

6th. The sums subscribed and paid in pursuance of the tenor of the second article preceeding, shall after the said payments have been compleated, constitute a funded capital stock divisible into shares of one hundred dollars each, which capital stock shall bear interest at the rate of eight per centum per annum from the times fixed for the payment of the respective instalments payable quarter yearly at the Treasury of the United States, or at the Loan Offices where the same may stand credited, until the last day of December, in the year one thousand eight hundred and eight.

7th. After the last day of December in the said year one thousand eight hundred and eight, and after reasonable notice to the creditors, which shall be given by an advertisement in some public newspaper, printed at the seat of the government of the United States, the said capital stock shall be redeemable at the pleasure of the United States by the reimbursement of the whole sum or sums borrowed, and which may constitute the said capital stock either at the treasury of the United States or at the loan offices where the same may stand credited.

8th. The credits for the said capital stock shall and may be separately certified in sums either for one hundred, four hundred, one thousand, four thousand or ten thousand dollars, and the credits so certified shall be transferable by the creditors, or their attornies, at the Treasury and Loan Offices respectively, in purfuance of the rules which have been, or which may be established relative to the transfer of the funded stock of the United States,

9th. A sufficient sum of the surplus of the duties on Imports and Tonnage beyond the permanent appropriations heretofore charged upon them by law, together with the faith of the United States, are hereby pledged for the fulfillment of this contract, in pursuance of, and according to the terms and conditions of the act of Congress herein before recited.

Given under my hand and the seal of the Treasury of the United States at Philadelphia, this twelfth day of January one thousand seven hundred and ninety nine.

Postscript.

NEW-YORK, Jan. 12.

By the ship Alexander Hamilton arrived yesterday from Hamburgh, we have obtained papers to the 13th of November (12 days later than those received at Salem.) We are indebted to a gentleman of this city, for the following translations, which is all we could obtain for this day's Advertiser. Further extracts on Monday.

TRANSLATED,

For the DAILY ADVERTISER, from the "HAMBURGH IMPARTIAL CORRESPONDENT" of November 14th.

PARIS, November 5.

By a report of Genissieux, made to the Council of 500 on 1st November, it appears that serious rebellions had taken place, in a part of the United Departments, occasioned by the military requisition. He says "it was produced by the instigation of England, and of fanaticism. The authors thereof are persons devoted partly to the former Belgic government, and partly to the Stadtholder's party. The revolters are priests, monks, vagrants and strangers. Liberty trees have been replaced by crosses—a part of the badges were orange cockades—others had painted the Imperial Eagle on their hats. The Directory has taken the most efficient measures to punish the rebels, and has reason to expect a compleat victory."

One million and a half of livres were in consequence voted by the Council, and concurred in by the ancients, as an addition to the funds at the private disposition of the directory.

They write from Brest, that the frigate La Semillante, belonging to Bompart's division, which undertook the last unfortunate expedition against Ireland, is returned to L'Orient.

Letters from the Head-Quarters of the Italian army, dated Oct. 22, mention this army of 12,000 men, exclusive of the Cisalpine legions, to be in full motion in three columns, one of which is to march to Naples.

BRUSSELS, November 3.

Yesterday at 4 A. M. the police officers, justices of the peace and national troops were assembled. Lists were handed them of a certain number of persons who should be arrested—the arrestations commenced at 5 A. M. and lasted through the whole day, several of the persons to be apprehended escaped, all others were committed to the criminal prison. It is not yet known whether these arrests have have any connexion with the discovery of a conspiracy, or whether the prisoners are only considered as hostages.

By another letter from Brussels of Nov. 4 it appears that in different parts of Belgium, larger bodies of rebels under able leaders and provided with cannon are assembled. General Collaud was making preparations to attack them; mean while a number of bloody actions had taken place near St. Amand, on the Scheld.

Troops were marching from Paris towards Belgium.

PARIS, Nov. 1.

By private letters from Alexandria it appears that the ship Le Patriote, having on board all the materials for the air balloons, was stranded on the coast of Egypt.

HAGUE, Nov. 6.

The Military tribunal which was to examine into the conduct of the officers in the unfortunate battle of the 11th October, finished its session yesterday, and has deprived counter admiral Bloys de Treslong, of all his military employment, and declared him forever incapable of serving his country—besides he is to pay the cost of the trial, amounting to 10,000 guilders. He was accused for not complying with the signals of Admiral De Winter, and for not supporting him properly with his division.

VENICE, October 26.

The English have sent four frigates into the Adriatic, which blockade Ancona, to cut off the communication with Corfu.

The inhabitants of Malta, are provided with provisions by the English and Portuguese. The latter have taken a French frigite coming from Malta, under Spanish colours.

Translations for the Mercantile Advertiser.

FLORENCE, October 10.

After the arrival of 3 courtiers from Livona, the magistrates assembled on important business. It is said that the French general Brune would be here in a short time, and France offers the Grand Duke an alliance; after which he is to shut up the port of Livona to the British, and deliver up Ferrara to the French.

VIENNA, October 24.

Our court paper is yet silent about the business of the French transport fleet at Alexandria, and the defeat of Buonaparte. Notwithstanding we have received letters yesterday from Messina to the 10th of October, which mention the arrival of a vessel from Alexandria, informing that Buonaparte's army, in a very severe engagement, in which the victorious Arabs on their side lost 12,000 men, had been reduced to a few thousand, and made their retreat to Alexandria. Other accounts say that Buonaparte is taken.

It is positively asserted that the Maltese Order established in Russia has determined to expel from the order, the Grand Master and all the Knights who were present at the surrender of Malta, because they delivered it up without any resistance. It is said that this resolution has already been communicated to the Grand Master at Trieste, who has sent a memorial to Peterburgh, in which he pretends to prove that he did not design to surrender, but that opposition would have been of no avail, and that all the French and Spanish desired it. It is said the prince of Conde is to replace the Grand Master.

HAGUE, October 27.

The troubles in Belgium, particularly in the department of the Scheldt and Antwerp have become very serious and bloody. At Mechlin on the 13th inst. the rebellious Peasants, armed with swords and pistols, forced their way into the city, cut down the Tree of Liberty, tore the tricolored Flag to pieces, and plundered the house of the Commune. The French General dispersed them, ordered two of them to be shot, and declared the city in a state of siege. On the 23d, the Insurgents came again before the three Gates.

We have not received later advices; but, according to the reports of travellers, the Insurrection in the low countries is very formidable. At Antwerp no vessel is allowed to depart, nor any vessel to go out.—From the French side, they say, the insurrection was connected with a projected landing by the English. According to report, the French and Insurgents had several engagements, in which the latter lost 300 men.

["Now, by St. Paul, the work goes bravely on."

Lay on good Russians may the Eternal grant vigor to your right-hands, keenness to your blades, and make all your wounds deep and mortal. These base Flemings, preceded the French in their revolutionary dance of death—they rebelled against the tyranny of the Emperor, and fought the liberty of France. They have been the cut-purses of the Empire, and never can be requited for the miseries they lent their aid to inflict on their country. Their country was a paradise—their condition most enviable. But they were too illuminated to enjoy this calm and happy state, and formed a coalition with atheists and murderers. The fate of the unholy awaits them. Their masters send them Guillotines to reign over them,—and while oppression, rapacity, and uncontroulable tyranny, backed by an insolent and brutal soldiery, rush torrent-like upon them by one road, through the other you behold in continual egress, the possessions, the liberties, religion, morals, and happiness of the people.]

SEMLIN. October 12.

The Fortune of War has not yet deserted the rebel Passawan Oglou; he has extricated himself from the dangerous situation in which he was.

By order of the Porte, the Turkish army acting against the rebels, was to storm Widdin, which on the 25th of Sept. was executed under the command of KAPUDON Pacha. ALIO Pacha of Natolien—and other Pachas, with their combined forces. At the commencement the Turkish commander gained some advantage; but his success was of short duration. Passawan Oglou was prepared for this attack, and had projected Mines not far from the city; as soon as his opponents had reached the spot that he wished, under a most heavy cannonade, he sprung his Mines, and made such a terrible slaughter and confusion among the assailants, that the army which blockaded him, was not able to form in three days. About 2000 men were left dead, and a great number more horridly wounded; which created great confusion in the camp. Even now they cannot give a regular estimate of their loss, as the dispersed men have not yet returned. On this occasion the 31st attack was repelled. We must now wait the issue.

DONAU, October 24.

We now observe the Imperial Declaration of the 10th September, by which the Court of Russia confirms and takes under its protection the body of Baillis Grand Croises, Commanders and Knights of the Grand Priarot of Russia, and supports them in their protest against the Grand Master, Von Hompesch, and the Knights who without any resistance delivered up their capitals and island by a dishonourable capitulation; and by which it takes under its direction and promises to maintain the order of Malta, its institutions, privileges, and honors, and order its Ministers at Foreign Courts to declare that so doing it does not wish to establish any pretensions injurious to the existing rights of other Courts.—The Voice of the other Nations is invited to accord with this arrangement.

FRANKFORT, October 27.

It is very certain that from the 17th to the 19th, 12,000 Austrians have marched partly through Bregingen' into Graubunden. This, however, was not undertaken until the regency of Graubunden had, according to existing treaties, demanded the assistance of Austria to protect its Independence, by a deputation to the imperial Resident, Von Kronthal. By an act signed by him, Austrian promises that she will withdraw her troops when requested by the Bundner.

According to report from Feld Kirch the French entered Graubunden on the 19th. The people opposed them. On both sides there were a great army killed and wounded. The French retreated, and the Austrians marched 12000 men into Graubunden from the environs of Feld Kirch.

GENOA, October 13.

It is generally believed that the French troops assembled at Massa, are going to garrison Livorno and Porto Ferrayo, to prevent the British men of war and cruizers from harbouring there. Every day there arrive here young Frenchmen from Marseilles and the South of France to avoid enlistment.

MILAN, October 15.

The desertion of the Cisalpine troops is becoming so alarming, that the Directory has insisted on a severe law to prevent it. Two of our new Legislators have resigned. It is said that the negociations between Naples and France hang on a thread. However it is hoped that they will not be broke off. Before the new Ambassador La Combe St. Michael arrived at Naples, the French Charge des Affaires, La Cheze, had actually solicited a passport to return, for which the following reasons are assigned:

Frst that the Secretary of state had neglected, as usual, to forward the Passport for the new Ambassador. 2dly. Because the court and populace at Naples had on the arrival of Admiral Nelson manifested signs of friendship and joy injurious to the French. 3dly. Because lately more English Men of War had been admitted at Naples, of which about ten were in that port towards the last of September.

COMMUNICATIONS.

To the LEGISLATURE of PENNSYLVANIA.

Strongly inclined to silence, it is but seldom I trouble the guardians of the state with my observations, nor should my taciturnity have been interrupted on this occasion if I had not seen a subject of public interest taking altogether a ludicrous turn; a skirmishing war, alternately scurrilous and ridiculous has lately been waged in the evening papers, on the subject of establishing new Insurance Companies. I confess I receive this information with serious concern, surely the representatives of the people will pause and profoundly consider the consequences of extending Legislative aid and encouragement to such schemes of bare-faced speculation.—They will certainly be cautious and forbear assisting to recall those times of Bubbles, Scrips, Schemes, Gulls, Traps, Frauds, &c. &c. when all sorts of means were conjured up to effect all sorts of infamous purposes, surely the Legislature will not be the instrument of opening those sluices of abomination again upon us. But it is represented that more Insurance Companies are required for the commercial accommodation of the traders of Philadelphia. If this be true, let the merchants address the Legislature to authorize a subscription to be opened for the purpose, upon fair and honorable principles; not that two or three individuals, known only for their modest assurance should secretly muster up, amongst a few of their own description, a kind of mongrel association, excluding or including whom they please; then scandalously state, (as in last evening's paper) that the design is for "mutually insuring for each other" when it is notorious that the prevalent design is to effect a petty monopoly for their own speculating purposes, which they vainly flatter themselves the Legislature will sanction and gratify—this is too plain to be controverted, and too evident to require a single argument. If it did, I might adduce their own practice, in already selling their rights of subscription at 5 per cent advance, and boasting of having made two or three hundred dollars, without advancing a cent—so much for these mutual insurers.

If the members for the city should so far forget their own respectability as to become the agents of such men for such purposes, I must confess myself greatly disappointed, and unwillingly subscribe myself,

NOTES

On the Impeachability of a Senator of the United States.

When we consult precedents in England and English writers on the subject of Impeachment, from whence the process has been derived and adopted in America, we find it certainly established that any person, whether Lord or Commoner, is there impeachable for high misdemeanors.

"All the king's subjects are impeachable in parliament, but with this distinction, that a peer may be so accused before his peers of any crime; a commoner, though perhaps it was formerly otherwise, can now be charged with misdemeanors only, not with any capital offence."

"Such kind of misdeeds, however, as particularly injure the commonwealth by the abuse of high offices of trust, are the most proper and have been the most usual grounds for this kind of prosecution, &c. &c. because it is apparent how little the ordinary tribunals are calculated to take cognizance of such offences, or to investigate and reform the general policy of the state." 2 Woodeson—page 602.

In like manner we find the law of England laid down by Sir William Blackstone, 4 Com. 260.

In that country all persons are liable to impeachment, and no distinction is there admitted exempting private subjects from this mode of trial, though most usually it is put in practice against high officers of trust. It is the nature of the crime that is considered in determining whether it ought to be prosecuted by impeachment, and not the quality of the offender, whether Lord or Commoner, whether a public officer or a private subject. Though Commoners are impeachable for high crimes and misdemeanors, it is not essential that they should have been committed contrary to the duties of any office or public trust. Official crimes or misdemeanors are not the sole and exclusive subjects of impeachment. In 1689 Adam Blair and other Commoners were impeached for high treason for having published a proclamation of James the second, and after great enquiry and consideration the prosecution was held regular. 14 Lords Journals, 260.

There is an important difference, however, between this extraordinary mode of trial in England and America, which deserves notice. In America, no punishment can be awarded, affecting the liberty or life of a citizen who shall be convicted on impeachment, and therefore there is the less reason to construe our constitution, so as to except any person offending against the state, from this species of trial.

Upon looking into the state constitutions prior to the constitution of the United States, we find some of them declaring all persons impeachable for any offences endangering the safety of the state, in which they follow the custom of England; while we find others limiting impeachments in express terms to officers of the state for official misdemeanors. Of the former kind are the constitutions of Virginia and Delaware; and of the latter are those of New-Hampshire, Massachusetts, and New-York.

Virginia has declared "that the governor when he is out of office, and others, offending against the state, either by mal-administration, or other means, by which the safety of the state may be endangered, shall be impeachable by the house of Delegates."

Nearly in the same words Delaware has declared, that "the President when out of office, and within eighteen months after, and all others offending against the state, either by mal administration, corruption, or other means, by which the safety of the commonwealth may be endangered, within eighteen months after the offence committed, shall be impeachable by the house of Assembly before the Legislative Council." In these constitutions a time is limited, within which their impeachment shall be commenced, the crime is generally described for which there may be an impeachment, viz. mal-administration, corruption, or other means endangering the state and under these provisions, all persons are impeachable. This was placing impeachment as it ought to stand, upon principles of sound reason and general policy, and as it was practised in that country from whence it has been brought into this. Conformable to these ideas so reasonable and proper in themselves, this kind of prosecution has been recognized and provided in the constitution of the United States.

New-Hampshire has declared that "the Senate shall be a court with full power and authority to hear, try and determine all impeachments made by the House of Representatives against any officer or officers of the state for bribery, corruption, mal-practice, or mal-administration in office," &c.

Massachusetts has declared that "the Senate shall be a court with full authority to hear and determine all impeachments made by the House of Representatives against any officer or officers of the Commonwealth, for misconduct and mal-administration in office." New-York to the like effect.

These states it is admitted have imposed limitations and restrictions relative to impeachments, which they deemed necessary and proper, and because they have provided these limitations and restrictions, it is inferred that without them, all persons would have been liable there to impeachment for offences endangering the state.

The convention who formed the constitution of the United States is presumed have understood not only the common law doctrine relative to impeachment, but the differences which existed in the constitution of several states on this subject. Having omitted words of limitation, as to persons, it is presumable they meant that no such restrictions should exist, as were to be found in the state constitutions of Massachusetts, New-Hampshire and New-York.

In some states their constitutions are silent upon impeachments, and do not embrace the subject at all, unless the express adoption of the common law should be supposed to embrace it imperfectly.

Subsequent to the constitution of the United States, several states, viz. Pennsylvania, Kentucky, South-Carolina, have formed new constitutions. It is remarkable that they have copied strictly from the words of the Federal Constitution respecting impeachments, so far as they go; and have added a clause declaring the governor and all the civil officers to be liable to impeachment for misdemeanors in office, by which an implication is raised, that impeachment is restrained to officers and for official misdemeanors only. This may have been the intention and may be a reasonable implicatibn; but if so, it affords a strong argument that the constitution of the United States which has not any such clause, has not limited impeachments to officers and for official misdemeanors.

This view of the English law and of the state constitutions has been taken for the purpose of illustrating the doctrine which was advanced relative to the impeachability of any person under the constitution of the United States. If it does not afford conclusive, it certainly affords corroborative arguments of the truth of that proposition.

We are happy to announce to the public, the arrival of THOMAS ADAMS, Esq. the third son of our beloved President, in the Alexander Hamilton, from Hamburgh. We give him a cordial welcome to his native shores, and we congratulate our country on the return of one of her most promising sons. [Daily Adv.]

DIED—On Friday evening last, Mr. TERRENCE HENRY O'NEIL, late of Baltimore.

Gazette Marine List.

New-York, January 12.

ARRIVED, Days.

Ship Alexander Hamilton, Clark. Hamburgh 46

Orlandon, Laughton, Copenhagen 40

Joseph, Bool, Cadiz 62

Three Friends, Billington, Bremen—

Schr. Active, Almy. Havannah 22

Sloop Gen. Green, Price, Delaware—

The Alexander Hamilton, spoke the ship Hiram, Whitlock, 14 days from Boston, bound to Liverpool Jan. 3, spoke the brig Rising Sun, from Portsmouth, N. H. bound to Demarara.

In the ship Joseph from Cadiz, arrived here yesterday, came passenger, capt Henson of the schr. Galliot, which sailed from this port for Gibralter, on the 5th September last, on the evening of the 7th she was upset by a sudden squall of wind, three of the seamen in the forecastle at the time of this accident were lost, the remainder of the crew, 10 in number, with Mr. Charles L. Ogden, of this city, one of the owners, and supercargo contained on the wreck six days, during 4 of which they were without provisions and water; on getting the foremast out, the vessel righted, and this enabled them to procure a final supply, by diving into the cabin; they then abandoned the vessel, which was filled with water, and took to the boat, from which after suffering a variety of hardships for two days, they were picked up by the brig Apollo capt. Henry Waddle, bound for Cadiz, where they all arrived safe, from whence Mr O embarked for Alexandria, Virg. 7 days before the Joseph sailed. Capt. Hausen speaks in high terms of the humanity of capt. Waddle, by whom every possible kindness and attention was shewn to the unfortunate sufferers.

Norfolk, January 3.

On Sunday last sailed from Hampton Roads, the United States frigate Constitution, capt. Truxton, and the armed brig Richmond, capt. Samuel Barron, on a cruize. having under convoy a number of our merchantmen bound to different parts in the West-Indies.

The Richmond is a beautiful new brig, mounting 16 six pounders, and commanded by as brave a fellow as ever stepped from stem to stern.

The British squadron, under the command of admiral Vandeput, is now lying in Hampton Roads.

On Tuesday arrived the brig Mary, capt. Israel, 75 days from Algiers. Capt. Israel was originally from St. Lucar, in Spain, but was captured off Cape St. Vincent by an Algerine zebec of 22 guns, and sent into Algiers, because he had no Mediterranean pass. He was liberated after 4 days detention, on paying a smart ransom.

The expedition (which we some time ago informed our readers was fitting out at Gibealtar) had sailed; it consisted of 5 sail of the line, six East-India men, and of several new constructed brigs with sliding keels; they carry with them 4000 men. It was understood they were to be joined in a certain latitude by some ships from England; the whole to be under the command of Sir Sidney Smith.

January 14th, 1799.

TREASURY DEPARTMENT:

JUNE 27, 1798.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, That by virtue of an act, passed during the present session of Congress, so much of the act entituled "An Act making further provision for the support of public credit, and for the redemption of the public debt"—passed the third day of March, one thousand seven hundred and ninety-five, as bars from settlement or allowance, Certificates, commonly called Loan Office and final settlement Certificates, and Indents of Interests, is suspended until the twelfth day of June, which will be in the year one thousand seven hundred and ninety nine.

That on the liquidation and settlement of the said Certificates, and Indents of Interest, at the Treasury, the Creditors will be entitled to receive Certificates of funded Three Per Cent. Stock equal to the amount of the said Indents, and the arrearages of interest due on their said Certificates, prior to the first day of January one thousand seven hundred and ninety one.

That the principal sums of the said Loan Office and final settlement Certificates, with the interest thereon, since the first day of January, one thousand seven hundred and ninety one, will be discharged after liquidation at the Treasury, by the payment of interest and reimbursement of principal, equal to the sums which would have been payable thereon, if the said Certificates had been subscribed, pursuant to the Acts making provision for the debts of the United States, contracted during the late war, and by the payment of other sums, equal to the market value of the remaining Stock, which would have been created by such subscriptions as aforesaid, which market value will be determined by the Comptroller of the Treasury.

BE it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That all credits on the books of the Treasury of the United States, for transactions during the late war, which, according to the course of the Treasury have hitherto been discharged by issuing certificates of registered debt, shall be forever barred and precluded from settlement or allowance, unless claimed by the proper creditors, or their legal representatives, on or before the first day of March, in the year one thousand seven hundred and ninety-nine. And the Secretary of the Treasury is hereby required to cause this Act to be published in one or more of the public papers of each state.

(Signed) JONATHAN DAYTON,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
THEODORE SEDGWICK,
President of the Senate. Pro. Tem.

Approved July 9, 1798.

JOHN ADAMS,
President of the United States.
